Loughlin Releases Campaign Video “Jobs”

John Loughlin, Republican candidate for Congress in RI-1 today released a web video of his ongoing “John’s Job Tour,” to outline his approach to creating jobs and improving our economy. The video can be viewed at www.johnloughlin.org

“The central theme of my campaign is creating jobs, revitalizing our economy and restoring fiscal responsibility to the federal government. Every week on John’s Jobs Tour I meet with business owners, managers and employees to talk about the challenges their businesses are facing each day.

“What I’ve learned is that these risk-takers and entrepreneurs know how to run their businesses, manage their money and create jobs. What they struggle with is the endless burdens placed on them by government. From new tax reporting requirements to skyrocketing taxes, these businesses are being killed off by the government that they pay for.

“The best way to stimulate job growth is to let the folks that know how to create jobs have access to more of their own money. President Kennedy did it in 1961 and President Reagan did it in 1981 – we must cut taxes, encourage businesses to reinvest in their own success and cut the government red tape that is strangling our small businesses.”
